I've added Dan/Guha from Google, and Tom/Bill/Gary from MSFT so that they can best implement the sharing. My earlier note was on the idea that we engage the NSF to better "clean up" data for public release in addition to complying with your team's needs.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Secretary Azar's Letter re: Schema.org & Closing the Loop on Data Feeds

Michael,

Happy Easter! I read with great interest Secretary Azar's letter on Friday re: options for hospitals to report COVID-related information to the federal government, including the option of publishing statistics directly on their website via schema.org markup standards (><https://www.fema.gov/news-release/2020/04/10/coronavirus-covid-19-pandemic-hhs-letter-hospital-administrators><).

While the schema.org instructions are published here (><http://blog.schema.org/2020/04/covid-19-schema-for-cdc-hospital.html><) and both Google and Microsoft have tools to help hospital webmasters apply the markup without much burden, I am hopeful we might designate the right federal agency point of contact to receive either an API feed of marked up pages, and/or aggregated information culled from Google/MSFT.

The Azar letter suggests hospitals may use this "publish to the web" option after the FEMA Regional Administrator validates that the information is accessible to the Task Force. Our current plan is to share that information directly with Amy and the Task Force, but would love your feedback if you would prefer that "raw" marked up web page data be sent to your team first so a copy might be made available via the "open science" work you've already announced.

Finally, NSF (Chaitanya) had considered tapping its OKN awardees for engaging in some way - perhaps in building tools to assist hospitals in publishing data, or for cities/states to aggregate, or for the public to better understand any number of key use cases:

- 1) COVID testing availability
- 2) revised physician office hours
- 3) COVID testing data

With the first 1,000+ pages already using the markup, this week would be ideal to close any of these outstanding items, and to possibly direct the VA / DoD / Indian Health Service to publish marked up data to the web!

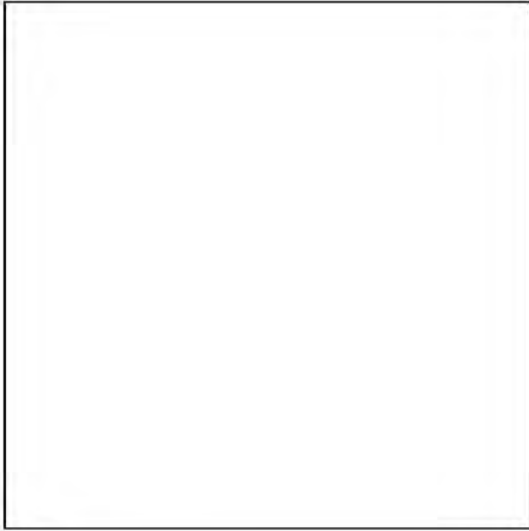

Thanks, in advance, for your time and engagement. I've added Google/MSFT directly on this thread so as to not be a bottleneck in your direct communication.

Hi Aneesh/Guha,

Please see attached CSV file with the hospital stats. This is what we used to upload into the NHSN site.

If you can help us convert this into schema.org format and direct upload into the HHS site that would be great.

The second attachment is the facility city and state by CCN or NHSN numbers.

Amy,

I'm writing to close the loop re: how schema.org marked up pages find their way to the Task Force in order to ensure hospitals are fully compliant with the reporting order. To that end, our "beta" partners on this approach is the 99+ hospital system, CHS, which has assembled all of the requested information across each of their hospital sites, and consolidated them into a common format. They are going to work with Guha to ensure the data is formatted correctly according to the schema.org specifications.

Guha would need clarification on where to send any of these marked up files, and in what format, to you or the COVID-us-data address copied above.

Thanks, as always, for your patience! It was wonderful to read the whitehouse blog post endorsing the schema.org markup, more generally (<https://www.whitehouse.gov/articles/connecting-americans-coronavirus-information-online/>)!

Hi Matt -- we have a few solutions out there beyond NY. For example in FL, we started by looking at CDN and then at a Google Forms solution for intake. Unfortunately, the bad news is that there is not a uniform and scalable solution for all the states. It is a much more complex and unique issue than we even anticipated as these systems are 20+ years old, often mainframe, brittle and again, each one is unique.

In NY, we established a reference architecture to stand up a lightweight front end to handle the entire application process on GCP, proactively communicate to the applicant throughout the process and then batch the backend system so it doesn't bring the site to its knees.

I am happy to connect you or Gundeep with our NY or FL teams or others at Google Cloud to hear more. Just let me know and I can set up a call or connect via email. Hope you are well Matt!

Gundeep,

I would be more than happy to review our work with you and your team. I would want to bring our local NY and FL team to the conversation if possible. Since both states have been public about our work in the press, our team can share with you our solutions and efforts there that we are working to scale to other states.

Let me know a few good days and times next week for your schedule, and I will assemble the group.

Thanks again Matt for making the connection!

Look forward to our meeting.

Lee, I wanted to introduce you to Gundeep Ahluwalia, who is CIO at the Department of Labor. DoL has been proactively reaching out to states to offer various types of assistance with their unemployment insurance systems. I think the help that Google offered to NY caught Labor's attention, and Labor might be interested in see whether similar options would be available to other states. In my experience, Gundeep has been one of the CIOs that goes above and beyond to help the people who are looking to him for aid.

Gundeep, Lee is a long-time Google employee. She's worked as head of international elections outreach, as head of outreach for the White House and other agencies, and for the last year or so has been director of cloud policy for North and South America. Lee has been involved with Google's assistance to multiple states and has experience with the patchwork nature of various states' mainframes.

Erin,

Just after we hung up, I was pinged by a old colleague, Ben Guhin, who is working at the RI Policy Lab (<https://thepolicylab.brown.edu/>). They act as technical and policy support for the state of RI and the city of Providence. Ben is also interested in the topics we spoke about and RI represents a possible place for USDS to engage (their size, policy chops, and their association with the east coast PPE consortium make them an interesting integrated benefits candidate). Would you interesting in chatting with him about your fellowship program?

We're also helping out in a few state that need help. Currently that is content management help (where we are currently rather thin). Not sure if you would be up for working together in NJ or GA on some COVID-related projects.

Eddie

Michael,

Your blog post is scaling :)

1) The City of Chicago issued a couple of public health orders to improve covid testing site quality and reporting requirements, building on the same schema.org reporting requirement as in the WH blog (><https://www.chicago.gov/city/en/sites/covid-19/home/health-orders.html><).

2) The State of CO emailed me about a similar endeavor.

I'm hopeful we can activate the NSF community to help scale up with testing facilities that tag, and / or close the loop on which ones are fulfilling the reporting requirements to public health.

Thanks, as always, for your leadership!

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Secretary Azar's Letter re: Schema.org & Closing the Loop on Data Feeds

Michael,

Happy Easter! I read with great interest Secretary Azar's letter on Friday re: options for hospitals to report COVID-related information to the federal government, including the option of publishing statistics directly on their website via schema.org markup standards (>><https://www.fema.gov/news-release/2020/04/10/coronavirus-covid-19-pandemic-hhs-letter-hospital-administrators><<:).

While the schema.org instructions are published here (>><http://blog.schema.org/2020/04/covid-19-schema-for-cdc-hospital.html><<:;) and both Google and Microsoft have tools to help hospital webmasters apply the markup without much burden, I am hopeful we might designate the right federal agency point of contact to receive either an API feed of marked up pages, and/or aggregated information culled from Google/MSFT.

The Azar letter suggests hospitals may use this "publish to the web" option after the FEMA Regional Administrator validates that the information is accessible to the Task Force. Our current plan is to share that information directly with Amy and the Task Force, but would love your feedback if you would prefer that "raw" marked up web page data be sent to your team first so a copy might be made available via the "open science" work you've already announced.

Finally, NSF (Chaitanya) had considered tapping its OKN awardees for engaging in some way - perhaps in building tools to assist hospitals in publishing data, or for cities/states to aggregate, or for the public to better understand any number of key use cases:

1) COVID testing availability

2) revised physician office hours

3) COVID testing data

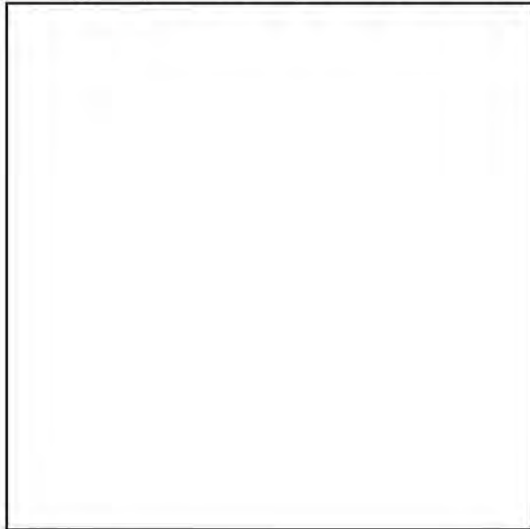

With the first 1,000+ pages already using the markup, this week would be ideal to close any of these outstanding items, and to possibly direct the VA / DoD / Indian Health Service to publish marked up data to the web!

Thanks, in advance, for your time and engagement. I've added Google/MSFT directly on this thread so as to not be a bottleneck in your direct communication.

Yiaway – Many apologies for the delay. I got embroiled in another COVID related project and lost the time to sit and summarize the CDC findings. At this point I'd like to just get you the reports we generated in hopes that your team will find them useful rather than hold them up any longer. Thus I've attached what we produced. I'm sorry it's not distilled down further.

In terms of feedback on the COVID products on Search, I can say from the research we're doing now with a particular state that has started to reopen, folks are really looking for localized data (county level at least) and trends around case counts and tests. No real surprises. The criteria for reopening and the 3 phrase approach isn't being clearly communicated on most state's public health department web sites. Thus my recommendation would be for Google to help surface that data as much as possible. It's unlikely to be available in API form yet. But perhaps a trend line in the Cases Overview section using either a 7 day rolling average or 3-day spline method that could be visualized in a sparkline or strip plot would help folks know whether their state had an increasing, decreasing, or flat trend. Would be happy to talk to whomever you think makes sense next week when our next burst of research will likely be complete.

Hi Eddie, Ellen, and Matt,

Thank you again for the time together and open discussion last week.

I wanted to followup on the UXR for your team's work with the CDC. I'd shared highlights from our discussion with our Civics Product Manager and she shared she'd love to see the UXR you'd all mentioned during our meeting. She also welcomed feedback you might have on our launched COVID products on Search.

Let me know if you're able to share the research and open to scheduling some time with our Product team in the near future.

Hope you all continue to stay safe and healthy.

Best,
Yiaway

Hi Yiaway, Dave, and others,

I wanted to connect a few folks here based on some Twitter conversations related to the topic of localization and standards for Government benefits and COVID-19 resources.

Dave Guarino served with Code for America for many years and has been looking into the subject of Public Interest SEO lately including getting a better understanding of how government benefits like unemployment are best surfaced on search engines - e.g. this Tweet with 216 replies to see how Google handled localization for "unemployment" in different localities. He also highlighted the "GovernmentBenefitsType" pending update to schema.org associated with COVID-19. Ex 5 DP- (5

Ex 5 DP- (5 U.S.C. Sec 552(b)(5)) Deliberative Process

I'd also mentioned some related coordination with Rebecca Williams (cc'ed) who works in the Office of the Federal CIO with Justin. As we discussed with Joanne a few weeks ago, Ex 5 DP- (5 U.S.C. Sec. Ex 5 DP- (5 U.S.C. Sec 552(b)(5)) Deliberative Process

Ex 5 DP- (5 U.S.C. Sec 552(b)(5)) Deliberative Process

In any case, I just wanted to make the introduction, but perhaps we can connect with other relevant threads as appropriate.

Best,

Phil

Hi VA team,

I hope you and your families are staying safe and healthy. I can imagine the last couple months have been incredibly busy on the VA side. We wanted to send along a first draft of the technical plan for Ex 5 DP- (5 U.S.C. Sec 552(b)(5)) Deliberative (see attached).

It would be great to walk through it together on a call if you have time this week. Here are a few times that would work for us:

- May 19: 9 - 10 am EST
- May 20: 9 - 10 am or 12 - 12:30 pm or 2 - 3 pm EST
- May 21: 2 - 3 pm EST

Let me know if any of these time blocks would work for a 30 min call and I can send an invite.

Thanks,

Anthony

Hi Jeffrey,

As part of the Google Account team that supports your program, I wanted to follow back up regarding our no-cost, educational training sessions. Spots are filling up fast and I want to make sure you/your team don't miss out.

As mentioned, from August 11 - August 26, join Jellyfish, a Google Authorized Training Partner, and Google for free, full-day virtual instructor-led training sessions, to help you start your learning and certification journey on Google Cloud.

If you haven't done so already, to sign up, use the registration links I have provided below, for the date and topic which best suits you - please make sure to use your corporate email for registration. You will then be redirected to the Jellyfish registration page. Please feel free to forward this invitation along to your team.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to reach out to me!

Good Afternoon,

This is a reminder to fill out this survey on the applicability of Agile methods in the federal government. The responses so far have been helpful, and we would like to gather as many of your thoughts as we can. The survey will close on September 8th in preparation for discussion of the results at our next Agile Government Center Members Meeting on September 10th.

The Samuel Freeman Charitable Trust and the Project Management Institute are cosponsoring a National Academy of Public Administration white paper, which will further explore the issues associated with agile government and recommend ways that the federal government can become more agile.

In order to solicit general feedback on Agile methods and its applicability to government, the Academy study team would like to learn from members of the Agile Government Network and hence request that you fill out this survey. This 5 minute survey is not for attribution. Your response will help the Academy team learn from your experience and fill in gaps in our research. Along the way, it give us insights into the AGN membership

Thank you for your consideration. We look forward to your feedback!

Best,
James Higgins

Hey Jan,

Here's some of what we created and are working now to share with Federal agencies / other communicators.

Thanks for taking the time to connect this AM and collaboration,

Amira

Key Messages for a Safe Thanksgiving Resources: Instructions for use

1. Scan the COVID-19 Communications Tip sheet, and consider the audience that you're targeting your message towards. How can you customize particular appeals to be most relevant and resonate?
2. Consider using one of the three visual concepts to serve as the base of the information you share. Download the PDF, and as desired, edit the two header lines (or feel free to use the generic ones), add your logo in the bottom left (especially if you're a local organization connected with particular communities), or feel free to use this as inspiration to create your own. Do note that the core messages and action steps here are the basis of what we believe people can consume in a less than 3 second view, and the idea here is to simplify more detailed guidance as much as possible, focusing on the most important actions individuals can take.
3. If this is a social media tile or on a website, consider linking to more detailed CDC guidance at <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/daily-life-coping/holidays.html>
