CDC Foundation

July 2010 – June 2011

The CDC Foundation enjoyed a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2010 – June 2011. Gift revenues were $38.6 million and consisted of $14.8 million from corporations, $17.4 million from foundations, $4.9 million in direct federal grants, $1.5 million from organizations and individuals. The majority of these gifts were restricted to the following program focus areas with $18.7 million to global health, $7.4 million to infectious disease, $2.3 million to emergency response and preparedness, $2.7 million to IT, $2 million toward chronic disease and birth defects, $1.9 million to injury and violence, $1.5 million to training and education and $2.1 million to other areas.

The CDC Foundation focused on its strategic plan, which includes major initiatives such as the Meta-Leadership Summit for Preparedness, a five-year initiative funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. Since 2006, the model approach for bringing communities together to respond to crises has connected close to 5,000 business, government and nonprofit leaders in 36 communities representing approximately 139 million Americans. Although the final Meta-Leadership Summit took place in Long Island in June 2011, the initiative continues to gain momentum. Through post-Summit activities unique to each community, CDC encourages participants to address preparedness gaps identified at the Summit and through evaluation results. During 2010-2011, more than 2,000 leaders participated in post-Summit presentations and discussions related to cross-sector preparedness. Summit participants are also invited to join a Meta-Leadership Online Community (www.meta-leadershipcommunity.org) that extends their collaboration. More than 3,000 members have joined to share resources, discuss topics of interest and connect with other Summit participants, locally and nationally.

The CDC Foundation continued work on the Bloomberg Initiative to Reduce Tobacco Use; receiving additional funding to conduct surveys in six more countries. Tobacco is the world's leading preventable agent of death, causing more than 5 million deaths each year. As one of a number of partners in the Bloomberg Initiative to Reduce Tobacco Use, the CDC Foundation works with experts at CDC and the World Health Organization (WHO) to implement the Global Adult Tobacco Survey (GATS).

GATS monitors adult tobacco use and the effectiveness of tobacco control measures among adults in 20 countries that account for approximately two-thirds of the world's smokers. The completed survey data will be critical in helping countries evaluate their tobacco control interventions. Now in the second phase of programming, GATS partners are working to ensure data quality, to establish protocols for the dissemination of the survey data, and to expand use of the survey into new countries. To date, 300,000 surveys representing 3.6 billion people or approximately one-half of the world's adult smokers have been completed in nearly 40 languages and dialects.

The Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition is a public-private partnership developed by the CDC Foundation to help the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) make meaningful advances in the prevention, screening and treatment of viral hepatitis. Approximately 5.3 million persons are living with hepatitis. CDC is particularly concerned that most of those persons are unaware of their infection, meaning they can unknowingly transmit these viruses to others, and that they are not receiving the care they need that could prevent the progression to liver disease, including liver cancer, in later life. The Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition is supporting CDC in its efforts to increase data collection on Hepatitis B and C to provide a better overall understanding of how many people are infected, how they become infected, if and when they get tested and treated and the outcomes of their treatment. Additionally, CDC will educate populations at-risk, healthcare providers and the general public about hepatitis to promote vaccination and prevention strategies and encourage screening and testing.

Federal funding of $1.8 million (including a six month extension to align the funding with CDC's preferred grant period) for administrative costs to the Foundation from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention was primarily used to fund the costs of the advancement staff who are responsible for building the partnerships that brought $22 million in expanded programming for CDC. These costs included salaries and benefits along with their associated rent expenses:

As of June 30, 2011, the Foundation had total assets of $87.5 million, total liabilities of $17.4 million and total net assets of $70.1 million. Seventy five percent of these assets were restricted by the donors to fund projects for the CDC. For the year ended June 30, 2011, the Foundation had total revenues of $40.8 million and total expenses of $31.8 million. These expenses consisted of $15.5 million in project grants, $12.5 million in other program expenses, $2.4 million for management and general and $1.4 million in fundraising costs.

The Foundation's website has an abundance of information about its programs and partners at www.cdcfoundation.org.

CDC Foundation

July 2011 – June 2012

The CDC Foundation enjoyed a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2011 – June 2012. Gift revenues were $19 million and consisted of $5 million from corporations, $9.3 million from foundations, $3.5 million in direct federal grants, $1.2 million from organizations and individuals. The majority of these gifts were restricted to the following program focus areas with $12 million to global health, $2.2 million to infectious disease, $1.7 million to injury and violence, $.5 million to training and education and $2.6 million to other areas.

Safe Injection Practices Coalition (SIPC)

Comprised of 19 coalition members, SIPC developed the “One & Only Campaign” to raise awareness among patients and healthcare providers about how single dose vials are to be used for only one patient in an effort to eradicate outbreaks resulting from unsafe injection practices. SIPC has created educational resources for patients and training materials for providers, including Healthcare Provider and State Health Department toolkits.

Pregnancy Risk Assessment Monitoring System (PRAMS)

This initiative will evaluate access to maternal and child health services in four states with the goal of improving maternal and infant health by closing racial/ethnic disparities and increasing access to care. PRAMS will collect state-specific, population-based data on maternal attitudes and experiences before, during and after pregnancy. This program will have the potential to impact nearly 250,000 babies born in these four states every year.

Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition (VHAC)

The Coalition is a public-private partnership created to help CDC advance the prevention, screening and treatment of viral hepatitis, an epidemic affecting an estimated 5.3 million Americans, most of whom are unaware of their infection. VHAC supports screenings, cohort studies and an education campaign which includes video stories from baby boomers living with hepatitis C. A major milestone was CDC's highly visible recommendation that anyone born between 1945 and 1965, around 79 million baby boomers, should be tested for hepatitis C.

Adaptation of Evidence-Based Interventions in Violence Prevention

This program expands CDC's violence prevention work by investigating how evidence-based interventions to prevent violence are being implemented in the field and whether they make programs more effective. The Triple P (Positive Parenting Program) system is one intervention being examined to see how it is implemented within U.S. communities and how to maximize adoption and use of this evidence-based intervention successfully over time.

Reducing Infections in Cancer Patients

Each year, an estimated 60,000 patients are hospitalized for chemotherapy-induced infections, and a patient dies every two hours from this complication. This program aims to reduce the risk of patients developing infections during chemotherapy treatment by providing action steps and tools for patients, families and healthcare providers including an educational website, print materials and expert commentary through Medscape.

The Impact of Smoke-free Policies on Bars and Restaurants

In the United States, secondhand smoke exposure is responsible for 49,000 deaths annually. Research shows that smoke-free policies reduce nonsmokers' exposure to secondhand smoke. While the health benefits of smoke-free policies are well-documented, the perception that they might negatively affect restaurant and bar businesses can pose a barrier to the acceptance of these policies. This initiative was launched to measure the economic impact of smoke-free policies in nine states through video testimonials from the hospitality industry and evidence from objective measures, such as taxable sales revenue and employment levels.

Heads Up Training for Healthcare Providers and Parents

About 170,000 young athletes each year visit an emergency center for a suspected sports- or recreation-related concussion. This is an increase of 60% over the last decade. This initiative was developed to help providers and parents prevent, recognize and respond to concussions through an education awareness campaign and an interactive training course.

Federal funding of $1.2 million for administrative costs to the Foundation from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention was primarily used to fund the costs of the advancement staff who are responsible for building the partnerships that brought $13 million in expanded programming for CDC. These costs included salaries and benefits along with their associated rent expenses.

As of June 30, 2012, the Foundation had total assets of $68.8 million, total liabilities of $14.4 million and total net assets of $54.4 million. Sixty-nine percent of these assets were restricted by the donors to fund projects for the CDC. For the year ending June 30, 2012, the Foundation had total revenues of $19 million and total expenses of $34.8 million. These expenses consisted of $17 million in project grants, $13 million in other program expenses, $2.9 million for management and general and $1.7 million in fundraising costs.

The Foundation's website has detailed information about its programs and partners at www.cdcfoundation.org.

CDC Foundation

July 2012 – June 2013

The CDC Foundation enjoyed a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2012 – June 2013. Gift revenues were $25.8 million and consisted of $4.6 million from corporations, $15.8 million from foundations, $3.2 million in direct federal grants, $2.2 million from organizations and individuals. The majority of these gifts were restricted to the following program focus areas with $16.4 million to global health, $3.7 million to infectious disease, $.7 million to injury and violence, $.7 million to training and education and $4.3 million to other areas.

Safe Injection Practices Coalition (SIPC)

The SIPC is a partnership of healthcare-related organizations, patient advocacy groups, industry partners and other public health partners that was formed to advance and promote safe injection practices in all U.S. healthcare settings. SIPC developed the One & Only Campaign - a public health education and awareness campaign - aimed at both healthcare providers and patients to promote safe injection practices. SIPC has created an educational website, print, and multi-media resources, toolkits and training materials.

FEMA's Whole Community Approach to Emergency Management

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) requested that the CDC Foundation, in partnership with CDC, contribute to the development and implementation of its whole community approach to emergency management. As a result, seven communities were identified and awarded funds to expand or enhance their whole community work as well as to develop an evaluation plan and tool kit. Site visits were conducted in each community to learn from program staff, partners and participants about history, operations and community relationships.

Pregnancy Risk Assessment Monitoring System (PRAMS)

This initiative is evaluating access to maternal and child health services in Mississippi, Minnesota, New Mexico and Louisiana, with the goal of improving maternal and infant health by closing racial/ethnic disparities and increasing access to care. PRAMS is collecting state-specific, population-based data on maternal attitudes and experiences before, during and after pregnancy. This program has the potential to impact nearly 250,000 babies born in these four states every year.

Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition (VHAC)

The Coalition is a public-private partnership created to help CDC advance high-priority projects focused on the prevention, screening, linkage to care and treatment of viral hepatitis, an epidemic affecting an estimated 5.3 million Americans, most of whom are unaware of their infection. VHAC supports cohort studies; demonstration projects evaluating best practices for hepatitis testing, linkage to care and health care models; expert panels; and a national education campaign. A substantial milestone was achieved in June 2013 with the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force's endorsement of CDC's recommendation that anyone born between 1945 and 1965 —around 79 million baby boomers - should be tested for hepatitis C. The Task Force’s rating encourages all physicians to implement the screening recommendation in their standard practice.

Preventing Infections in Cancer Patients

Each year, an estimated 60,000 patients are hospitalized for chemotherapy-induced infections, and among those hospitalized, one in 14 will die from this complication. This program aims to help reduce the risk of patients developing infections during chemotherapy treatment by providing action steps and tools for patients, families and healthcare providers including an educational website, print materials and expert commentary through Medscape.

Heads Up Training for Healthcare Providers and Parents

About 170,000 young athletes each year visit an emergency center for a suspected sports- or recreation-related concussion. This is an increase of 60 percent over the last decade. This initiative was developed to help providers and parents prevent, recognize and respond to concussions through an education awareness campaign and an interactive training course. In July 2013, in partnership with CDC, the CDC Foundation released and promoted a Heads Up to Parents website and mobile phone app. The app assists parents and coaches in selecting a helmet and also provides important safety information and tips on spotting a concussion. The website offers a variety of materials, including videos, fact sheets and a training for sports coaches.

Strengthening Haiti’s Public Health Infrastructure

At CDC’s request, the CDC Foundation made a commitment to help rebuild the public health infrastructure of Haiti following the devastating 2010 earthquake. The February 2013 ribbon-cutting ceremonies for two new public health buildings in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, marked another milestone in the country’s recovery and rebuilding since the earthquake. The buildings, funded by CDC Foundation partners, are being used by Haiti’s Ministry of Public Health and Population (MSPP), MSPP’s Division of Epidemiology, Laboratory and Research and CDC’s Haiti office as they work to strengthen the country’s public health systems.

Federal funding of $1.2 million for administrative costs to the Foundation from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention was primarily used to fund the costs of the advancement staff who are responsible for building the partnerships that brought $19 million in expanded programming for CDC. These administrative costs included salaries and benefits along with their associated rent expenses.

As of June 30, 2013, the Foundation had total assets of $69.2 million, total liabilities of $17.3 million and total net assets of $52 million. Seventy eight percent of these assets were restricted by the donors to fund projects for the CDC. For the year ending June 30, 2013, the Foundation had total revenues of $27 million and total expenses of $29.7 million. These expenses consisted of $10.7 million in project grants, $14.6 million in other program expenses, $2.6 million for management and general expenses and $1.7 million in fundraising costs.

The Foundation’s website has detailed information about its programs and partners at www.cdcfoundation.org.

CDC Foundation

July 2013 – June 2014

The CDC Foundation enjoyed a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2013 – June 2014.

---

Program Highlights

Safe Injection Practices Coalition

Since 2001, more than 150,000 patients in the United States have been notified of potential exposure to hepatitis B virus, hepatitis C virus and HIV due to lapses in basic infection control practices. To address this issue, the Safe Injection Practices Coalition (SIPC) was formed, and the CDC Foundation serves as the convening partner. The coalition is a partnership of healthcare-related organizations, patient advocacy groups, industry partners and other public health partners that was formed to advance and promote safe injection practices in all U.S. healthcare settings. A new phase of SIPC was launched in 2014, bringing together new partners to support and expand SIPC's One & Only Campaign, a public health education and awareness campaign, aimed at both healthcare providers and patients to promote safe injection practices. SIPC has created an educational website, an interactive infographic, print, and multi-media resources, toolkits and training materials.

Positive Parenting Program

The Positive Parenting Program (Triple P) is an evidence-based, multi-level system of supportive interventions designed to help parents improve their knowledge, skills and confidence when addressing behavioral, emotional and developmental problems in their children. Triple P is a multi-year collaborative pilot project initiated in two counties located in Michigan and North Carolina. This program explored whether or not this system could be implemented and coordinated at the community level through partnerships between local health departments and federally qualified health centers and evaluated the outcomes.

MenAfriNet

Along with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and partners, the CDC Foundation established MenAfriNet, an international consortium to strengthen the meningitis surveillance network in Africa. The surveillance network is evaluating the impact of MenAfriVac™, a vaccine designed specifically for the region that is being rapidly rolled out through mass vaccination campaigns across the meningitis belt in Africa. 352 million Africans are expected to receive the vaccine by 2016.

Business Pulse

The CDC Foundation launched Business Pulse to connect CDC resources to the business community. Business Pulse is an online feature that highlights CDC's 24/7 life-saving work, including ready access to information, resources and tools. Business Pulse focuses on a different topic each quarter with four web-based components: business challenges, a question and answer between a business leader and a CDC expert, an interactive infographic highlighting opportunities for businesses to take action, and resources.

Together for Girls

The CDC Foundation is a charter member of Together for Girls, a public-private partnership dedicated to ending violence against children, with a focus on sexual violence against girls. Supported by the U.S. President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR) and partners, the initiative conducts the Violence Against Children Survey (VACS) and collects data to document the magnitude and impact of sexual violence against girls to inform government leaders, civil society and donors and supports a plan of action at the country level with interventions tailored to address sexual violence. The partnership also launches communications and public awareness campaigns to draw attention to the problem and motivate changes in societal and gender norms and behaviors.

Food Fortification Initiative

The Food Fortification Initiative is expanding global nutrition by fortifying foods with micronutrients. The public-private-civic partnership provides country leaders with support and technical assistance to help improve the population's nutrition by adding vitamins and minerals to wheat flour, maize flour and rice. The two main health problems addressed by grain fortification are anemia caused by nutritional deficiencies and neural tube birth defects caused by insufficient folic acid.

mHealth Tanzania Public Private Partnership

The U.S. President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), through CDC, provides financial and technical support to the Tanzania mHealth partnership and its activities. The partnership includes mobile network operators and regional implementers supporting the creation of a sustainable text messaging service. Healthy Pregnancy, Healthy Baby, also called the Wazazi Nipendeni SMS Service, provides timely safe motherhood information and appointment reminders. It is offered free to pregnant women, mothers of newborns, their supporters and those interested in safe motherhood information. The CDC Foundation manages the partnership in close collaboration with the Tanzanian Ministry of Health and Social Welfare. Since 2012, 500,000 men and women have received more than 40 million text messages. The partnership is targeting one million subscribers by mid-2016.

Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition

The Viral Hepatitis Action Coalition (VHAC) is a public-private partnership created to help CDC advance high-priority projects focused on the prevention, screening, linkage to care and treatment of viral hepatitis, an epidemic affecting an estimated 5.3 million Americans, most of whom are unaware of their infection. VHAC supports cohort studies; demonstration projects evaluating best practices for hepatitis testing, linkage to care and health care models; expert panels; and a national education campaign. In 2014, to mark the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the discovery of hepatitis C, the National Summit on Hepatitis C, Prevention and Cure was held at CDC to bring together leaders in the field.

Financial Information

CDC Foundation gift revenues were $44.1 million and consisted of $9.4 million from corporations, $24 million from foundations, $6.3 million in direct federal grants, $4.4 million from organizations and individuals. The majority of these gifts were restricted to the following program focus areas with $30.2 million to global health, $8 million to infectious disease, $.2 million to injury and violence, $.7 million to training and education and $5 million to other areas.

Federal funding of $1.2 million for administrative costs to the Foundation from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention was primarily used to fund the costs of the advancement staff who are responsible for building the partnerships that brought $31 million in expanded programming for CDC. These administrative costs included salaries and benefits along with their associated rent expenses.

As of June 30, 2014, the Foundation had total assets of $85.4 million, total liabilities of $20.5 million and total net assets of $65 million. Eighty percent of these assets were restricted by the donors to fund projects for CDC. For the year ending June 30, 2014, the Foundation had total revenues of $44.7 million and total expenses of $31.7 million. These expenses consisted of $12.5 million in project grants, $14.8 million in other program expenses, $2.8 million for management and general expenses and $1.6 million in fundraising costs.

For detailed information about the CDC Foundation's programs and partners, visit the website at www.cdcfoundation.org. Recent audited financial statements and the 990 can also be found online. For the eighth year in a row, the CDC Foundation received a 4-star rating from Charity Navigator. Only 1 percent of charities rated have received eight consecutive 4-star evaluations.

CDC Foundation

July 2014 – June 2015

The CDC Foundation enjoyed a successful year of significant program accomplishments during the period of July 2014 – June 2015.

Program Highlights

Global Disaster Response Fund—West Africa Ebola Response

In response to the unprecedented Ebola epidemic in West Africa, the CDC Foundation assisted the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) by providing critical assistance and supplies through donations to the Foundation's Global Disaster Response Fund, which enabled CDC staff to respond quickly to changing circumstances and needs. The CDC Foundation worked with donors to provide much-needed supplies and equipment for use on the ground in West Africa, such as infection control tools, vehicles and motorcycles, hiring of locally employed staff, exit screening tools and supplies at airports such as thermal scanners to detect fever. Donor funding also helped support temporary Emergency Operations Centers, develop permanent Emergency Operations Centers and establish incident management systems to coordinate response efforts and help prepare each country for future health emergencies. Donations have been provided by individuals and organizations, such as Mark Zuckerberg and Dr. Priscilla Chan, The Paul G. Allen Family Foundation, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, HCA, Taiwan, and others. In kind contributions of supplies or services have been provided by organizations such as Henry Schein, Inc. and BD (Becton, Dickinson and Company).

Antibiotic Stewardship Use in Inpatient and Outpatient Health Care Settings

CDC estimates that each year in the United States more than 2 million people are infected with antibiotic-resistant organisms, resulting in approximately 23,000 deaths. A primary factor driving antibiotic resistance is the overuse and misuse of antibiotics. To help address this issue, the CDC Foundation partnered with The Pew Charitable Trusts to analyze antibiotic use in inpatient and outpatient healthcare settings in the United States. This analysis will allow for a comprehensive understanding of antibiotic use in U.S. healthcare settings, which is critical to improving antibiotic prescribing practices in human medicine. It will help protect patients from unnecessary risk for preventable allergic reactions, antibiotic-resistant infections, and Clostridium difficile infection, a sometimes deadly diarrhea resulting from an infection acquired during antibiotic use.

Sickle Cell Disease Longitudinal Data Collection System

Sickle cell disease, estimated to affect nearly 100,000 Americans, is the most common inherited blood disorder in the United States and the estimated cost of care for sickle cell disease is approximately $1.1 billion dollars annually. To address this health burden, the CDC Foundation partnered with CDC's Division of Blood Disorders within the National Center on Birth Defects and Developmental Disabilities, the California Rare Disease Surveillance Program (a project of the Public Health Institute, located in Oakland, CA), Pfizer Inc. and Biogen to support the development and implementation of a longitudinal data collection system for Americans with sickle cell disease.

Data for Health

Each year, more than 35 million people die around the globe and for many, the actual cause of death is never recorded, which is a major obstacle to developing data-driven policies that can improve public health. Bloomberg Philanthropies partnered with the CDC Foundation and others to launch the Data for Health initiative that will enable 20 low- and middle-income countries to vastly improve public health data collection. The CDC Foundation, in partnership with CDC, will support country partners to strengthen birth and death registration systems and improve information on cause of death. They will also support and convene experts to create the best-in-class mobile phone surveys for non-communicable diseases. Finally, the partnership will help in-country, CDC-supported Field Epidemiology Training Program (FETP) residents and National Public Health Institute staff build capacity in ministries of health to use and share health data to inform policy development.

Malaria Zero

Malaria Zero's goal is to eliminate malaria from the island of Hispaniola, which includes Haiti and the Dominican Republic, by 2020. Hispaniola is the only island in the Caribbean where malaria is still endemic. Initial funding for Malaria Zero was provided through a grant from The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Partners in this effort include the CDC Foundation, CDC, the Ministry of Public Health and Population of Haiti, the Ministry of Public Health and Social Assistance of the Dominican Republic, the Pan American Health Organization, The Carter Center, the Clinton Health Access Initiative, the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine, and Tulane University School of Public Health and Tropical Medicine. Working collectively with governments and organizations in Haiti and the Dominican Republic, Malaria Zero will implement an evidence-based plan to eliminate malaria by 2020 and contribute to knowledge that will support global malaria eradication.

MenAfriNet

MenAfriNet, an international consortium supported by The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation to strengthen meningitis surveillance in the meningitis belt in Africa, currently provides technical and financial support to four countries (Burkina Faso, Mali, Niger and Togo) with an estimated 23 million people under surveillance. Having completed the second year of a five-year project, MenAfriNet has improved these countries' ability to monitor and respond to meningitis outbreaks, but also other vaccine-preventable diseases by strengthening their surveillance systems, laboratory and data management. The routine data collected by MenAfriNet will be used to evaluate the impact of the MenAfriVac vaccine and inform future vaccine policy and research.

Gavi Alliance

Globally, 1.5 million children under five die every year from vaccine-preventable diseases. Gavi, The Vaccine Alliance, began partnering with the CDC Foundation and CDC's Center for Global Health and National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases in 2013 to address vaccine-preventable diseases in Africa and South East Asia. By strengthening epidemiological and laboratory capacity and surveillance, CDC helps improve vaccine effectiveness for rotavirus, intussusception and pneumococcal meningitis.

Optimizing Helmets to Reduce Work-Related Injuries

This project optimizes helmet design to reduce the severity of head injuries at construction worksites. The study builds on CDC's research of digital human modeling of personal protective equipment and will respond to construction industry-wide needs for effective assessment methods to control exposures resulting in fatal and nonfatal work-related traumatic brain injury. This project is conducted by National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health researchers, who work in close collaboration with the professional staff of the Department of Neurosurgery, West Virginia University and the International Safety Equipment Association. This project is supported by Turner Construction Company, Liberty Mutual Insurance, Zurich North America and ACE Construction.

Financial Information

CDC Foundation gift revenues were $148.3 million and consisted of $12 million from corporations, $125.8 million from foundations, $3.2 million in direct federal grants, $7.3 million from organizations and individuals. The majority of these gifts were restricted to the following program focus areas with $84.9 million to global health, $54.8 to emergency preparedness and response, $3.5 million to infectious disease, $1.2 million to injury and violence, $.8 million to training and education and $3.1 million to other areas.

Federal funding of $1.2 million for administrative costs to the Foundation from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention was primarily used to fund the costs of the advancement staff who are responsible for building the partnerships that brought $87.1 million in expanded programming for CDC. These administrative costs included salaries and benefits along with their associated rent expenses.

As of June 30, 2015, the Foundation had total assets of $143.6 million, total liabilities of $20.2 million and total net assets of $123.4 million. Eighty-eight percent of these assets were restricted by the donors to fund projects for CDC. For the year ending June 30, 2015, the Foundation had total revenues of $145.6 million and total expenses of $87.1 million. These expenses consisted of $52.2 million in project grants, $29.6 million in other program expenses, $3.1 million for management and general expenses and $2.2 million in fundraising costs.

For detailed information about the CDC Foundation's programs and partners, visit the website at www.cdcfoundation.org. Recent audited financial statements and the 990 can also be found online. For the ninth year in a row, the CDC Foundation received a 4-star rating from Charity Navigator. Only 1 percent of charities rated have received nine consecutive 4-star evaluations.
